A Circus Stampeded.

[From the Diamond Fields Advertiser.] Shortly after eleven o'clock last night a general stampede of all the animals comprising Fillia' managerie took place. This appalling occurrence is attributed to a mis creant, at present at large, who, possessed of a grudge against Mr. Fills or members of his company, thought to pay it out by climb log on the fence of the enclosure in which the animals are kept, and, at imminent risk to his own life and limbs, releasing from their cages and chairs the whole of the wild animals. This fiend in human shape is evidently one well acquainted with the show, for not only has he exhibited a familiarily with the locks and bars of the cages, but he selected the day and hour when the super-vision of the animals was most relaxed. He appears to have made good his escape before the animals realized their freedom from re-straint, and as the four employes, who slept on the premises, have all fallen victims to the ferocity of the wild beasts, it is impos-sible to say at present if his identity is

From what we can gather, the four male lions, Pasha, Abdul, Caliph and Mustapha, upon discovering the door of their cage open, immediately proceeded to the stables, where the large ilon, Pasha, leaped on to the back of Mura', the jumping horse, and fastened his teeth in his neck and withers. It is reported that he has always borne this horse a most unaccountable grudge, and in variably gave signs of displeasure and dis-like when within sight of him. The horse's screams roused the four attendants—a Scotchman, named Patterson and three Kaf-fir boys—and, hastily arming themselves with stable forks, they rushed to the scene of the disturbance, evidently ignorant of the numerical strength of the foe they had to contend with. These four gallant fellows met a fearful death.

From the few words of one of the Kaffir boys to Mr. Fillis, it appears that he and his mates, when endeavoring to beat back the lion Pasha, were attacked from the rear by the three other lions and one of the cheetahs. They were then literally torn limb from limb by the ferocious brutes, and the scene of their death is one of indescribable horror. Having tasted blood, the lions (male and fe-Having tasted blood, the lions (male and female), the cheetahs, the wolves and the legards seemed to regain all the ferocity of their class, and Mr. Filli. four Hungarian horses, Sang d'Or, Kremis, Lenore and Etoile, and the performing horses Beauty and Black Bess, fell victims to their last for blood. The elephant, frightened at the noise, in his effort to escape, burst through the heavy iron gate, and rushed into Curry the heavy iron gate, and rushed into Curry street, followed by nearly the whole of the wild animals, who appear to have been rush out. He likens the scape to the exit from Noah's ark. An elephant came out first, and a few seconds afterwards tumbled out a confused mcb of lions, welves, hyenes, baboons, leapards, cheetahs and jackals.

The wolves, with the instinct of their race, immediately rushed upon Nelson's horses, and two of the lions attacked them also.

Strange to say, they left the man bimself unmolested, and be managed to climb up a post at Glover's Athletic Bar and secure his safety in one of the rooms. When last he saw his horses they were galloping madly down the Dutoitspan road, snorting and screaming with fear and pain, followed by the woives and two of the lions. The remainder of the animals, Nelson said, dispersed in all directions, but the man appears to be so unstrung by his terrible experiences that nothing coherent can be obtained from him. A little son of Mr. Grindley, produce dealer, happened to be in the back yard of his father's premises. He noticed a cheetah which had taken refuge there, and, with the fearlessness of childhood, walked up to it. His mother from her bedroom window saw the brote lay her darling prostrate with one blow of its paw, and then mangle him beyoud all recognition.

Four lions, two lionesses, two tigers, three bears, two wolves, one hyens, two cheetahs, four jackals, one elephant, one camei, and seventeen babcons are at large. Only two of these animals have as yet been accounted for. Mr. Murchison, residing in Dutolispan road, having been awakened by the noise, seeing a jackal run across the yard, shot it dead with his revolver. Mr. Goodshild was aroused by the shricks of his parrot, and getting out of bed to see the cause, observed to his horror an enormous lion crouched under the trees in the front garden. With great presence of mind be took down his Martin-Henry rifle, and, firing through the window, shot it dead. The whole of the police, armed to the testh, are scouring the district and the town
